DETAILED ACTION

In light of the amendments filed, July 24 2009, the following restriction is deemed necessary.

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows: (please elect one species from each Species Group)

Species Group I: (please elect one species from this group).

Species A, claim 3, drawn to where the differential measurement is carried out on two groups of probes being subjected to the interaction of step b).

Species B, claim 5, drawn to where differential measurement is carried out on two groups of probes where one probe is subjected to an interaction and the other group is subjected to another interaction.

Species C, claim 6, drawn to where the differential measurement is carried out on the same probe molecules.

Species Group II: (please elect one type of molecule -- DNA, RNA, protein molecules, or vitamins)

Species D, claims 16 and 17, drawn to different types of probe molecules. (Note that claim 17 only reads on DNA molecules)

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: claims 1, 2, 4, 1-15, 18, and 19.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Species A has the special technical feature of where the two groups of probes are fixed to distinct active zones which undergo the interaction of step b). In contrast, Species B, has the special technical feature where one group undergoes one reaction and the other group undergoes another reaction. Species C has the special technical feature of where the probes are the same. Thus, the species do not share the same special technical feature and do not form a single general inventive concept.

The different molecules in Species D each have their own unique structure, composition, and properties. Thus they do not have the same special technical feature and do not form a single general inventive concept.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
